

Green Class

In Science, we have been studying the human skeleton and in particular the names of the bones.

In PE, we took in our skeletons we had made and compared them with our own bones to find out which ones we use for physical activities. We learnt that aerobic exercise helps the heart to become and stay strong. Bone strength is built when bones are forced to bear weight and work against gravity. These activities also help to build muscles.

